Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 26 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy to start then sunny spells. Breezy along the coast.

Today:
After a cloudy start, skies will brighten through the day, with sunny spells for many in the afternoon. Largely dry, but a few light showers may affect coastal areas, where it will also be breezy. Feeling cooler than of late. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning cloudier through the evening, though clear spells will occur overnight. A few fog patches may form in the west under clearer skies. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Friday:
Mostly dry on Friday. Cloudy conditions likely during the morning but skies will clear from the northeast to give sunny spells for many later. Lighter winds. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mostly dry on Saturday with sunny spells, especially in the north. Initially bright on Sunday before low cloud and drizzle move in. Staying cloudy but mostly dry on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.